

Equal Opportunity Technology Starts with You

Who we are

EqOpTech is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization consisting of over 200 volunteers (many students). Our main goals include leveling the playing field in education, providing youth with meaningful real life skills in leadership and technology, and celebrate volunteerism all while reviving old laptops to protect the environment.

What we do

EqOpTech engages its volunteers in a wide variety of projects. We have refurbished and deployed over 1000 computers around the bay area and hosted more than 65 STEM classes, speaker series, and workshops to promote education.

Community Impact

Our computer redeployments have made a significant impact on the environment and the community. To date, we have repurposed over 5,000 lbs of e-waste by providing old laptops to aspiring learners, which has become especially helpful during the shift to online learning.

Testimonials

"EqOpTech really stepped up at a time when the crunch of needing more personalized devices was at an all-time high, and I'm very grateful for them for their work ... They've made a huge difference in our home, and I'd definitely encourage families that are feeling stretched to reach out to EqOpTech." - Laptop recipient Mary Sonne

"EqOpTech encourages volunteer interns to learn and troubleshoot independently, building important critical thinking skills applicable in school and beyond"

- Volunteer intern Sarah Yung

 contact@eqoptech.org

 www.eqoptech.org

IDT Donates Used Laptops to EqOpTech via "Acts of Giving"

Laptop giveaway supports students lacking computer access

Nonprofit teaches tech skills, fights inequity.

The Mission – Equal Technology Access

1

Give away refurbished computers to students in need

2

Empower students with computer refurbishing skills to make a positive impact

3

Protect the environment and minimize e-waste

Donate Your Laptop Now